Preliminary plans estimated at $4.4 million

Board considers addition to high school

by Andrew Milne

The Haliburton County Board of Education had its first opportunity to view preliminary plans for an addition to the high school at a meeting in Haliburton March 28.

The addition, as currently portrayed, would include a new triple gymnasium, a science wing with five laboratories and three preparation rooms, new facilities for the teaching of music, drama, and the visual arts, and would be fully wheelchair accessible.

The price, however, would come to an estimated $4.4 million for renovations and additions, and that's a little steep for the board, which will not have an allocation for the full amount from the Ministry of Education and Training (MOET).

Now, said board members, it will be a matter of setting priorities — what is most needed, and what can wait until later.

Highlights of the plans the board saw were:

- construction of a separate, specialized wing for the teaching of science. The area would house five laboratories and three ancillary preparation rooms. The lab facilities currently in use would be converted to classrooms.

- renovation of the existing auditorium/gymnasium structure to expand the stage, and put in tiered seating.

- a triple gym facility, including four change rooms, three offices, and three apparatus rooms

- a new music facility, including practice cubicles and a music listening room.

- a new, cafeteria/kitchen facility in a new wing. The old cafeteria would be converted for use as a visual arts teaching facility.

- new staff quarters

The board and public present were reminded several times these plans are only preliminary, and will have to be substantially revised prior to soil being broken.

In other business, the board approved the school year calendar for 1995-1996, and moved to continue sponsoring two 'Section 27' teachers at CHIMO, a type of 'halfway house' in the Ingoldsby area for students with behavioral difficulties.

CHIMO has stated that it is considering relocating the facility, which might leave the board with two teachers on the payroll that would have nowhere to teach. The board moved to continue sponsoring the positions after hearing that the teachers could be reassigned to supply duties, should CHIMO relocate.

Say "thanks" for the support

Flags for fishermen

"There'll be more maple leaf flags flying over Britain than there are over Canada."

That is the way Mick Mahon of Newlyn, England, in an telephone interview with The Times, described his effort to show support for the Canadian response to over-fishing by the Spanish.

Newlyn, a coastal fishing village of about 2000 near Penzance in Cornwall England, is the home of a mounting wave of protest over the United Kingdom's lukewarm support of Canada's challenge to the Spanish over fishing just outside this country's territorial limit. Mahon is leading that protest and has asked his fellow fishermen and community residents to fly a Canadian flag on their boats or from their homes as a visual sign of their support for the Canadian stand.

"Canadians have a reputation for being honest," Mahon said, "and I believe we should stand beside our friends." He said that Federal Fisheries Minister Brian Tobin is viewed by the British public as "a hero" for the stand he has taken.

Mahon noted that a television series on World War Two is nearing completion on British TV and the memories of the contribution Canadian soldiers made in defense of the United Kingdom have been rekindled.

Mahon said the issue has stirred a national response that hasn't been felt in the country for years. Obviously interested in the potential for other political fallout, Mahon suggested this could be the issue which could lead to Britain reassessing its membership in the European Economic Union.

Since he began his protest he has had calls of support from all over Britain. Fishermen are eager to get their hands on a Canadian flag. As well he has received calls of support from Canadians who are pleased there is at least one voice in Europe supporting the Canadian position.

Mahon has run into one problem, however. He doesn't have ready access to enough Canadian flags to meet the requests he is receiving from fishermen and their supporters throughout the U.K. and Ireland. A call to the Canadian embassy in London proved fruitless as all it could offer were $60 government issue flags.

That's where we thought the readers of this newspaper might like to help.

The Times plans to send Mahon several flags to show our support for his support for Canada's stand.

We believe there are many people in our community who share this attitude and who might want to be a part of the effort.

The Times will accept Canadian flags from anyone wishing to add to the package we are preparing. We will pay for the freight charges to deliver the flags to Mick Mahon in England. He is eager to distribute them to those wishing to join the protest.

Canadian flags are available locally from Home Hardware stores and Stedmans V/S Department Stores in Minden and Haliburton. (No flag pole hardware please, just the flag.)

We suggest that individuals, families or groups may wish to include a note with their flag so the recipients in Britain are aware of your involvement and appreciation for their support. We are planning on two shipments of Flags for Fishermen. The first will be sent Friday April 7 and the second on April 14.

Please send flags to The Times office, 134 Main Street Minden (or mail to Box 97 Minden Ontario, K0M 2K0), before these dates, to have them included in our shipment.

HHSS teacher charged

The community was shocked last Tuesday when a press release from the Ontario provincial Police announced that one of the most popular teachers at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School has been charged with five counts of sexual exploitation, an offence under the criminal code.

History teacher Frank Wallace, 47, of Minden Township was arrested and charged March 27. The OPP reports the charges involve a single female.

Wallace has been released from custody and is to appear in court April 19.

The Board of Education reports Wallace has been suspended with pay from his teaching duties pending disposition of the charges. A spokesman for the board said there would be no further comment on the situation until it has been dealt with by the courts.

46 fires in 12 days

Wildfire danger arrives early this spring

Wildfires have been a serious problem for the Haliburton Fire Management Area.

In a 12-day period ending on Friday, March 31, a total of 46 forest, grass or brush fires was reported within the district, 26 occurring in Haliburton County. The coverage area extends from Sebright in the west, to Pembroke in the east.

The early thaw has left dry vegetation exposed and, combined with the moderately high winds, provides ideal conditions for the rapid spread of fires. The Ministry of Natural Resources cautions people not to burn anything. Issuance of fire permits has been cancelled until further notice because of the danger of fires getting out of control.

Last week, a fire burned about 50 acres in Dalton Township, northwest of Uphill.

Ron MacKenzie, of the Haliburton Fire Management Area said that the cause of the fire hasn't been established. Speculation is that it was caused either by someone on an ATV or that it may have been deliberately set by someone hoping to cash in on a good blueberry crop later this year.

The Carden Township Fire Department was called, but it wasn't possible to get fire fighting equipment to the site. The MNR had to send in two crews of fire fighters by helicopter to bring the blaze under control.

MacKenzie wasn't able to give an estimate of the cost to extinguish the fire.

Dogs pose threat to deer

Free-roaming dogs can be a serious problem for wildlife, especially deer at this time of year. They can also earn their owners a minimum fine of $155, or worse, the dog may be destroyed by Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR) personnel if it is found chasing deer.

It is against the law to allow a dog to run free. The law applies to local dog owners as well as visitors from outside the area. All dog owners must take responsibility for their animals.

If a deer is chased by a dog, the deer could die even if the dog doesn't "catch it". Death from stress can be several hours after a chase. Pregnant does are especially vulnerable, but all deer are susceptible during late winter and early spring after using up fat reserves over the winter months.

When dogs chase deer, they often cross roads and highways, putting motorists in jeopardy as well as the deer and the dogs. Traffic accidents involving deer can cause serious injuries or death to both the animal and the highway travelers, not to mention damages to vehicles.

"Dogs that run free are a serious problem this time of year," said Tim Boyd, a compliance specialist with the MNR. "It's hard to convince owners that dogs can have a serious impact on wildlife."

The Game and Fish Act states that it is illegal to let a dog run at large during the closed hunting season in an area inhabited by deer. Keeping your dog on a leash, tied up, or in an enclosure is the only way to ensure the safety of both deer and dog.

Those convicted of a second offense of allowing their dog to run free will face a mandatory court appearance, which may result in a much higher fine than the $155 minimum for a first offense.

Tourism promoters are told

No substitute for good marketing

by Andrew Milne

Resort owners, business owners, academics, tourism group representatives and others interested in tourism, from across the riding of Victoria-Haliburton, met with MPP Chris Hodgson March 27 to discuss concerns related to the trade.

If there were to be one message that came out of the meeting, held at Ridgewood Public School in Cobocok, it is this: there is no substitute for good marketing.

Those present left the meeting with a number of ideas to consider, including:

- Suggestions to the effect that there is much more that Victoria-Haliburton could be doing in the way of attracting tourists to the region via marketing

- An argument that marketing of larger regions, rather than individual attractions, is generally more effective, and that there should thus be more cooperation between marketing bodies and businesses within the region to promote the region as a whole

- Suggestions to the effect that 'ecotourism' — a concept in which tourists travel to 'experience' wilderness areas — is a growth area and should definitely be considered as a selling point for Victoria-Haliburton

- The idea that tying apparently unrelated attractions together — boat tours and art galleries — into packages, is often quite effective in attracting tourists, and needs to be explored more

- Complaints of a lack of cooperation between the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR) and the Ministry of Culture, Tourism, and Recreation (MCTR) on issues related to tourism, including fish stocking

- Complaints that government reforms to the unemployment insurance laws hurt seasonal economies, including those based on tourism

- A general suggestion that there is a great deal that can be done to improve the image of Victoria-Haliburton's towns, villages, and businesses, with the goal of making the area more attractive to tourists

- A general impression that the region really has a great deal to offer the world — and is, in the words of participants, "a world class destination" for tourists

MPP Chris Hodgson

■ A contention from the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce that the MCTR has not been fair in allocating funding for tourism-related initiatives by region, and is effectively discriminating against this region.

Ron Egan runs Egan Houseboat Rentals, a business that builds and rents houseboats that tour the Trent-Severn waterway. Egan is no stranger to marketing. Around eight years ago his business virtually collapsed due to the excessive popularity of the waterway — tourists began to feel the waterway was too crowded, and stayed away in droves.

Egan, knowing he had to market or go out of business, put together a promotional video, worked on travel writers to write articles, and got the word out to travel agents that the Trent was quiet again, and, in his words, "a world class destination."

The strategy worked, and, says Egan, his business is recovering nicely.

Egan says he feels strongly that an important part of successful marketing of Victoria-Haliburton has to be an approach that markets the region in general, and raises its profile as a destination.

"We should all be marketing the area," says Egan. "And don't just sell your own area. If your place is in Fenelon Falls, tell them, hey, Bobcaygeon is just 20 miles away. It's a gorgeous town. Lindsay's here, this is here. A lot of times at the sportsmen's show, everyone's competing. Every one's trying to sell their town — go to this town, or that town.

Nobody's telling them they're all 20 miles apart, so you can come to our place and see all of them. Try and sell it as an area."

John Fisher, representing Friends of the Trent-Severn Waterway, concurs.

"I couldn't agree more that this is necessary," he says.

Ron Egan rents houseboats

"And if you market a program on that basis, you increase its value not only to yourselves, but you increase their value to the tourists."

Al McPherson, who teaches a course in ecotourism management at Sir Sandford Fleming College, says he feels ecotourism, a major growth area, represents a significant opportunity for Victoria-Haliburton.

Ecotourism, explains McPherson, is really a type of tourism in which people are looking, first of all, for a type of 'experience' from their trip — often a learning experience, or an adventure experience.

He can also describe it very well in terms of what it is not.

"It's not lying on crowded beaches," he says. "It's not mass cultural events. It's not elaborate infrastructure and well-beaten paths. It's not well-travelled places. It's not mass tourism."

"Ecotourism," he says, "is in natural areas. It's in wilderness areas... We've got some really wild, remote areas, that are really unique, and that's what ecotourists want. They want scientific knowledge. They want to know more, and they want to learn... They want fitness and outdoor activities."

McPherson also says that neither North America in general, nor Victoria-Haliburton in particular, have been especially quick to pick up on the opportunities of ecotourism. During the question period that followed his address, he held up brochures from a number of locations catering to the ecotourism markets — attractive, colourful layouts with photography emphasizing adventure and wilderness areas.

Then he held up a small, modest pamphlet — black ink on green paper.

"This is what we have," he said.

"This is a miracle."

Phyllis Sisson is walking again

by Andrew Milne

On February 20, 1995, Phyllis Sisson got up out of her wheelchair, and stood.

Shortly thereafter, she went for a stroll.

To say the least, her actions were a little unexpected. To some, they are nothing short of a miracle.

Sisson had suffered from polio at the age of four, and then, while in her forties, had developed a condition known as post-polio syndrome, for which there is supposed to be neither cure nor chance of remission.

Polio is a viral disease that affects the central nervous system. Post-polio syndrome affects childhood victims of the disease later in life.

Sisson, who turned 50 this January, was diagnosed as having the syndrome in 1987. Through the years that followed, she gradually lost the strength in muscles throughout her body.

She spent seven years in an electric wheelchair.

Sisson says her doctor is entirely mystified at the sudden turnaround.

"He checked me all over," she says, "asked me all sorts of questions, and then he said, 'I can't touch this. This is a miracle.'"

Formerly a resident of Minden, Sisson moved to Leamington with her husband Murray in 1992. Prior to her move, she was active in the local area in promoting wheelchair accessibility, and in forming a support group for others suffering from the syndrome.

After only a few days of getting used to it, Sisson was walking entirely without pain or difficulty. The only thing left to deal with now, she says, is what to do with her new-found freedom. She has spent the time visiting with friends, including a return visit to the Minden area two weekends ago. Many of the pleasures able-bodied individuals take for granted, Former Minden resident and access advocate Sylvia Sisson no longer needs her electric powered wheel chair to get around. In late February she regained the use of her legs and is now walking. Prior to moving to Leamington, Ontario in 1992 she campaigned for improved access to public facilities for individuals who must use a wheelchair.

like going out to a restaurant or simply going for a walk, are now hers to enjoy.

She has had speaking invitations from church groups and women's groups interested in the "miracle", she says, but isn't quite sure what else this will mean yet.

"I wasn't working outside the home before," she says. "I was just doing what I can. I'm a representative for Regal Gifts, and also do volunteer work for the church. But my life has been totally different since this happened, and I'm not sure where it's going to go."

MEMBER OF THE GOLDEN RULE

Students learn the skill of negotiation and compromise

by Jerry Grozelle

Like most meetings of its kind, Friday's arbitration meeting between students and faculty of Archie Stouffer Elementary School lasted longer than expected.

Students from two Grade 8 classes at the school organized seven union locals as part of an integrated language-history unit. The arbitration meeting was the culmination of the project, which was designed to teach students the collective bargaining process.

Principal Peter Forgrave represented the school, while representatives from each of the union locals formed a coalition called the Federation of Student Rights and Opinions (FSRO). The arbitrator for the proceedings was Haliburton County Board of Education trustee Wendy Ladurantaye.

The FSRO met with Forgrave and Ladurantaye Friday afternoon to negotiate a settlement on six key issues. The six grievances were narrowed down from a list of 21.

Ladurantaye asked FSRO chair Adam Aggett to rank the Federation's list of six grievances. Forgrave also listed the grievances in order of concern. Each issue was then discussed at length by both sides.

At the top of the federation's list was Student Input On How the School Budget Is Spent. The students say they feel it is important for them to know where and how school taxes are allocated. They also wanted some input into the decision process since it is their parents' tax dollars that are being spent. They would like to see more priority given to such projects as a baseball diamond and a computer in every classroom.

Forgrave pointed out that the students actually do have legal representation since their parents have the option of attending School Board meetings.

"They have the opportunity for input at that level," he said.

The subject of playground equipment is being addressed by the board and funds have been budgeted for that purpose the group was told.

"As far as school input, I've always had an open-door policy," Forgrave said, adding that students have the opportunity, if they choose, to discuss problems and plans with him. "The only stipulation is that I ask them to bring their concerns in writing."

Federation representative Daniel Vanderlip protested that the students don't know how much is spent on various items so it is difficult for them to make informed decisions.

Ladurantaye suggested that the two sides were close on that issue and arbitration wouldn't be necessary.

The tissue issue

Second on the students' list was washroom facilities and supplies.

The main concerns were that there are no locks on washroom doors; there is no soap; and the quality of the toilet paper is inferior.

Katrina Matysek, one of the federation members, questioned why locks hadn't been installed at the first of the year.

Forgrave said that the locks and lack of soap were a matter of maintenance and would be taken care of as soon as possible. Regarding the toilet paper, he said it is a matter of "function versus comfort" as well as a budgetary concern.

"If we switch to two-ply toilet paper, it would increase the cost by 15 to 20 per cent," Forgrave explained. He added that if the Board of Education spends $8,000 on one-ply toilet paper for all the schools in the county, switching to two-ply would cost an additional $1,600. "That $1,600 would have to come from some other part of the maintenance budget," he said.

Principal Peter Forgrave represented the "management" side in the mock negotiations which took place at the school.

Student federation representative Aiden McKnight asked how the staff washrooms compare to the student washrooms.

Forgrave responded by saying that it was not a fair comparison because the staff washrooms weren't within the renovation area. "It's a loaded question," he said.

Ladurantaye noted that there didn't seem to be a need for arbitration on that issue.

More extra-curricular activities

Extra-curricular activities was the next topic of negotiation. The students wanted to have the opportunity to take part in more. They suggested that parents could be recruited to help supervise such activities during lunch hour and after school.

Forgrave argued that there has already been "a tremendous improvement" in extra-curricular activities, citing the production of a play as one example.

Another concern he has to deal with is regulations within which the school operates. "Teachers must have 40 minutes of uninterrupted time for lunch," he explained. "Any supervision they provide must be on a voluntary basis." He pointed out that he can't instruct teachers to supervise extra-curricular activities because he would be infringing on the laws of the province. He added that the welfare of the students is the school's responsibility from the time they arrive in the morning until the end of the school day. All extra-curricular activities must be supervised by a teacher, so that supervision must be voluntary on the part of the teachers.

Ladurantaye suggested that the student council might become involved in working out something with the teachers.

Dress code

Students wanted more flexibility to make their own decisions regarding dress code. They felt that as Grade 8 students, they were mature enough to make responsible decisions regarding the suitability of the clothes they wear to school.

Forgrave noted that the entire code of conduct, which includes the dress code, is reviewed periodically, with input from teachers, parents and students. He added that the provincial government will have the ultimate say regarding the code of conduct and suggested that this issue be put on a back burner until after the provincial election.

Freedom

Free choice during lunch hour and recess was another item on the list of grievances. Students wanted the option of leaving school property "to go downtown" on their lunch hour if they chose to do so; or to stay inside the school working in the computer lab or just to stay in the classrooms.

Forgrave said that staying in classrooms all day long was not conducive to good health. He insisted that students need some fresh air.

"It's very important to provide a healthy environment," he said.

Suggestions that windows could be opened to allow students to get some fresh air fell on unsympathetic ears.

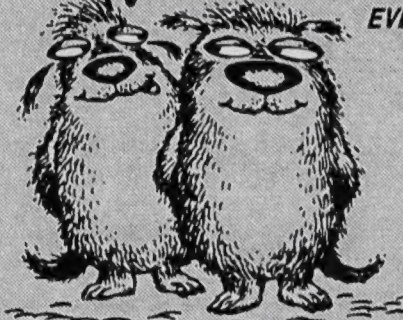

Federation representatives objected that students serving detentions do so indoors during lunch hour. Forgrave countered that having to stay inside and being deprived of the opportunity to enjoy the outdoors is part of the penalty associated with detentions.

Homework

Student input in regard to homework was one area where Forgrave was unwilling to compromise. Students argued that there are often circumstances when it isn't possible to complete homework assignments within the allotted time frame. Jobs, sporting activities and other commitments were among the reasons cited. They wanted some flexibility or at least a method of negotiating with teachers to arrange for extra time when circumstances warrant.

Forgrave said that jobs and sporting activities are the choice of the students.

"You have to make the decisions (about taking jobs and participating in sports) and live with the consequences," he said. Federation member Lisa Cowen suggested that a communication policy be put in place to ensure that the student's point of view is given due consideration.

"I'm not prepared to formulate a policy regarding homework," Forgrave responded emphatically. "It would be infringing on the teachers' responsibilities."

It was established that teachers do listen to students' reasons for not having homework assignments completed on time but that they don't necessarily agree with the reasons given.

"I'm never going to tell the teachers they have to agree," Forgrave stated.

Since no compromise could be reached through the bargaining process, Ladurantaye was forced to make a decision as the arbitrator. She left the room for a few minutes and returned with her reasons for the decisions she was about to hand down.

She said that she concurred with the principal when he said that he would be infringing on the teachers' responsibilities if he interfered with their teaching methods. She ruled against the student demands, saying it was "in the best interest of the students." She did recommend that the principal or a committee be available to mediate in extenuating circumstances.

It was approaching 3 p.m. before the negotiation process came to a close. Ladurantaye and Forgrave were both presented with flowers for their participation in the project.

Forgrave thanked the students for allowing him to participate in the project. "It was a lot of fun for me," he said. "You were very well organized, and you made me think."

Betrayed?

Back in October 1994, the Acting Health Services Board endorsed a resolution which allocated health resources to various locations in the county. The board was responding to pressure from the Ministry of Health to make a decision and keep the wheels turning and the process moving forward. The motion recognized the need for 24 hour emergency services in both villages in the county and also acknowledged the potential savings that could be found in the consolidation of certain services.

The board's motion was a compromise, there is no doubt about that. But it was also a reasonable approach to ensuring that delivery of health care services in the area are allocated in an equitable manner. To a certain extent, the compromise also recognized the fact that to proceed with any portion of the reconfiguration of health care services in the area will require the support, both moral and financial, of all those who will be affected by the changes.

In endorsing this multi-faceted resolution, the acting health services board responded to the task the Ministry of Health laid before it...to design a health care system to meet the needs of the people of the service area. Granted, there are pieces missing, but all of them were either withheld or simply not available when the board was forced to make its decision.

So where is the Ministry of Health now? The latest reports are that more studies are in the wings to justify (or discredit) the stand the board has taken in its (available) wisdom.

It has not been without gut-wrenching acrimony that the board wrestled this issue to a conclusion. It deserves full credit for having done so. The time has come for the Ministry of Health to descend from its lofty tower and work with the board to implement the community's vision of a health care future.

To do any less would be a betrayal to the board and those who struggled to find a compromise that not only the community would accept, but that would promise to provide ongoing health care for the residents of the area.

Let's get on with the process.

Support all efforts against violence in society

Editor:

I am writing on behalf of the Haliburton County Committee Against the Abuse of Women (HCAAW) to update the community on our ongoing "Framework of Services for Abused Women" project.

On February 10 and 11, an extremely successful initial workshop was held at Zion United Church in Carnarvon. We had representation from many walks of life and from all corners of the county. At this workshop, the groundwork was laid for the creation of a Community Action Committee (CAC). This committee's goal is to study existing services for abused women in Haliburton County, look at what improvements need to be made to those services, and establish a framework to keep those services coordinated and accountable to their consumers and to the community. It should be stressed that the creation of the CAC does not mean more government funds for women's issues; making services accountable means more effective use of existing funds.

The CAC's members include concerned citizens who attended the first workshop, representatives of agencies that provide services to abused women and children in Haliburton County, and service consumers. The committee's meetings are open--anyone who is interested in finding an active solution to the problem of violence against women in our county is welcome. The next meeting of the CAC will be held April 12 at 6:30 p.m. at the Women's Resource Centre in Haliburton.

As a committee, we are extremely concerned, as many people are, about the problems of violence in our society and how it affects all of us. This committee has chosen to focus on the issue of violence against women because that is where our particular expertise lies. We support the efforts of those who are using their skills and knowledge to work toward ending other forms of violence, as a completely violence-free community is the ultimate goal.

Chair, HCAAW

Going ahead in reverse

Editor:

It seems to me that County Council is going ahead in reverse. When the county seat was put in Minden years ago, it was because 85% of the population of Haliburton County lived within 16 miles of Minden. The same still goes today.

When county court was moved out of the county building, because there were no wheel chair access available, the county council at the time passed a motion that it would be a waste of taxpayers' money to build onto the existing building, as there was not enough property to build on, or enough parking spaces next to the building. But now, our county Warden thinks that this would be alright to spend approximately one million dollars on a building that would only last 25 years and then it would become obsolete.

There are approximately 35 different social and health services in the county, each renting space somewhere. If these services could be incorporated into a new building and charged, for example, $100 a month rent, that amounts to $3500 per month, $42,000 per year and $1,050,000 over 25 years. This money could reduce our taxes and be spent on roads, schools, the Chamber of Commerce, etc. instead of going to the private sector.

When Jim McMahon came up with the idea of a new county building to bring all the services together under one roof, this was the first time I have seen this amount of common sense in many years. Those members of council who do not support such a resolution should tender their resignations.

In 25 years, the new county building would show a profit. Instead, after 25 years we'll have little more than a pile of receipts for rents paid, representing taxpayers' money that could have been used to support a county building.

Unless you like paying taxes more than I do, speak to your reeve of your municipality and tell him or her to get this new building up.

...create a weekly feature like this in which readers can submit a quick comment of 50 words or less on issues that are of concern to them. Of course, all contributors would have to be identified and the word limit strictly enforced.

Hmmm, sounds like an idea worth trying Ed. He recently returned from Florida with clippings of a similar feature which runs in the Panama City News Herald. Musical dog-fights

A little music quiz just to find out where we stand popular-music-wise: can you name one song that is in the Top Ten?

No? The Top Twenty, maybe?

How about the Top One Hundred?

Alright then...how about naming one song from the past year that made it to the top of the charts?

Still drawing a blank? Don't feel bad. I got exactly the same score. It just means you're "of an age", as they say. And probably it isn't that venerable an age either. We all have at least one era of popular music with which we identify. Tunes that we sing in the shower, singers that we remember with fondness. And chances are, if you're old enough to drink, drive, and die for your country, your favourite era is already on the scrap heap of musical history.

Then too, there is the leavening process of simply growing up. Somebody once observed "when you're 35, something awful always happens to the music."

Too true. I can still remember my father's uncomprehending sneer the first time he heard Elvis singing That's All Right Mama. It's the same uncomprehending sneer I wear when my teenage son plays his 2 Live Crew CDs.

(Except of course, I'm convinced my father was mistaken, while I am absolutely right. Elvis was a musical giant. Today's pop stars couldn't tune Sylvia Tyson's autoharp.)

'Twas ever thus. My father had musical dog-fights with his father about jazz, which Granddad thought was pure trash. No doubt if I could trace back far enough I'd find one of my ancestors whacking his offspring over the head for listening to that gypsy tramp Vivaldi.

It's a little more complicated nowadays because the twentieth century has been a regular hothouse for popular music. I grew up in an era when radio waves vibrated to the strains of Frank Sinatra and Little Richard, Ella Fitzgerald and Brenda Lee. Were they all good? Of course not. We had lame, saccharin songs like How Much is That Doggie in the Window? We had no-talent pretty boy crooners like Fabian and Frankie Avalon.

But they were strictly second-stringers. They never achieved the popularity of a Sarah Vaughan, a Peggy Lee, a Bing Crosby or a Nat King Cole.

This of course, was before Big Business discovered popular music. Once the moguls realized actual talent was the least important factor in creating pop stars, the floodgates were open.

And we got the likes of Michael Jackson and Madonna.

Michael Jackson has made millions from music -- not bad for a falsetto fraud. And Madonna? Somebody once deftly summed her up as "a thimbleful of talent adrift upon an ocean of ambition."

The somebody who said that was Mick Jagger, who himself looks pretty pale (in more ways than one) alongside, say, Taj Mahal or Tina Turner.

All of which is, alas, musically irrelevant. How many kids today have a clue what a Duke Ellington arrangement sounds like? Or a piano keyboard under the fingers of Oscar Peterson? Or a Chet Atkins guitar solo, come to that.

But they know Pearl Jam, Smashing Pumpkins, Stone Temple Pilots, Weezer and Nine Inch Nails.

No, these are not nags at Woodbine, or the names of street gangs in South Central L.A.

They are the names of five musical groups currently sitting at the top of the charts.

I haven't heard them but I betcha one scratchy recording of Billie Holiday singing God Bless The Child would blow them all away.

Decisive victory gives Sid Stamp Fuels the championship

Minden Men's Hockey Association championship final

by Jerry Grozelle

The players on the Sid Stamp Fuels team left no doubt they were determined to be the 1995 champions of the Minden Men's Hockey Association. After giving up the second game of the best-of-three championship series to Westside Jug City, the Stamp crew overwhelmed the opposition 8-1 in the deciding game, to earn the league hardware.

Westside jumped to an early 1-0 lead, with an unassisted goal by Scott Hamilton. But that would be the only time the Westside team would get the puck past Stamp goaltender Brent Foster, in spite of numerous opportunities.

Gary Harrison notched the equalizer, with the assistance of Bern Berry and Eldon Bull.

Scott Nesbitt scored what proved to be the game winner, with Berry picking up his second assist of the game.

Before the first half was over, Dave Dollo added one to the Stamp total for a 3-1 lead as the teams switched ends for the second half. Nesbitt and Trini Elias assisted.

The Stamp assault continued with a couple more quick goals in the second period. Dollo netted his second of the game early in the period, from Nesbitt and Berry. Then, Boomer Stamp scored, to make it 5-1 and cloud any hopes the Westside team had of making a comeback.

Despite some good scoring chances, Westside's big guns were silenced and the Stamp crew built on the momentum, drawing strength from the frustrated attempts of the opposition to get back within striking distance.

Greg Hurley made it 6-1, from Tom

Miscio and Nesbitt. Bull potted goal number seven for the Stamp team, converting a setup from Harrison. The final marker of the game was Nesbitt's second goal, and his sixth point, of the contest.

BUSY NETMINDER: Westside Jug City goalie Terry Crowe makes the save here. He was kept busy in the championship final game as the Sid Stamp Fuels squad skated to an 8-1 championship-winning victory.

HAT TRICK: Cam Neville rounds out his hat trick with two seconds left in the second period of last Tuesday's peewee B game against the Beaverton Blades. The 4-1 win increased Minden's record to five wins, one loss and one tie in the eight-game series.

Monarchs down Blades 4-1

A 4-1 win over the Beaverton Blades last Tuesday night moved the Minden peewee B Monarchs a step closer to the Tri-County championship. The win gave the Monarchs a record of five wins, one loss and one tie in the eight-game round robin championship series.

A pair of quick goals late in the first period got the Monarchs off on the right track. Cam Neville scored the first goal of the game with 1:05 left in the opening frame. David Byrne assisted. Thirty-nine seconds later, Neville notched his second on a solo effort and the Monarchs took a 2-0 lead into the second period.

Beaverton struck back two and a half minutes into the middle frame when defenseman Mike Taylor scored on a breakaway to cut Minden's lead in half.

The score remained at 2-1 until the period was almost over. With just two seconds showing on the clock, Neville rounded out his hat trick, with Tom Perrott and Shawn Casey assisting.

A single marker was added to the scoreboard in the third, four and a half minutes after the period's opening faceoff. Casey was the marksman, from Adam Bathe, giving the Monarchs a 4-1 advantage, which they held until the end of the game.

Novice B Monarchs tangle with Moms in exhibition hockey game

Minden's novice B Monarchs accepted a challenge to play an exhibition hockey game against their moms recently. The excitement and nervousness in the dressing room was at an all-time high as the boys didn't know what to expect.

The contest was divided into two segments -- a "no holds barred" game, followed by a shootout.

From the opening faceoff, the action was fast and furious, with end-to-end rushes and some great passing by both sides.

Defense was definitely not the name of the game, with both goalies under tremendous pressure to make some outstanding saves to keep their respective teams in the game.

The Moms knew they would be in a tough situation, so they brought in a ringer, Sandy Cole, for a goaltender. The Monarchs played their all-star goalie, Ryan Cole.

Even with Sandy Cole between the pipes for the Moms, the Monarchs doubled the opposition 6-3.

The Moms, not wanting to be outdone and determined to leave the ice with their heads held high, regrouped and planned their attack for the shootout portion. Nobody will reveal what was discussed in the huddle, but whatever it was worked.

In the shootout, they edged the Monarchs 7-5.

Representing the Moms were: Jackie

Smith, Gabe Bleakley, Gidget Lougheed, Leanne Carpenter, Cathy McKelvey Brown, Heidi Williams, Gwen Harrison, Debbie Bull, Colleen Simms, Cathy Fisher and Sandy Cole. Bolstering the Moms team were Jennifer Bleakley, Jennifer Carpenter, a hairy grandmother and an ape. Excellent coaching was supplied by Laura Bleakley, Cathy Arbour and Liz Lyddiatt.

The Monarchs were represented by Brandon Davidson, Darrin Brown, James Bleakley, Andrew Bull, Cory Harrison, Kolt Smith, Mark Fisher, Cory Simms, David Williams, Chad Carpenter, Daryl Arbour, Taylor Lougheed, Jason Lyddiatt and Ryan Cole.

The hard working referees were Dan Davidson and Garry Smith. Earl Bull looked after the time keeping duties.

CELEBRATING SUCCESS: Members of the six teams, organizers of the recreational hockey group in Kinmount and helpers, gathered at the Galway Hall recently to celebrate a successful inaugural season by hosting a pizza party and presenting T-shirts. The recreational hockey club for Kinmount area youngsters was well supported by Kinmount area businesses, service organizations and individuals. The club was organized by Dave and Holly Loughheed and Danny and Janice Davidson, with help from friends. The emphasis of this league is fun first, with a little friendly competition thrown in to keep it interesting. League officials didn't keep track of wins, losses, ties, or who scored the goals throughout the season. The first season proved so successful that organizers are planning to add another division for 13, 14 and 15 year-olds. For the story and another photo, see page 14.

Tyke A Monarchs defeat Haliburton for C title

Minden's tyke A Monarchs hockey team participated in the playoff tournament in Sunderland and Cannington on the weekend of March 25 and 26.

The local squad took on Mariposa in the opener Saturday morning. The final score was 4-2 in favour of Mariposa.

Later the same day, the Minden squad lost a close contest with Bobcaygeon by a 4-3 score.

Sunday saw the Monarchs playing in the C division championship against Haliburton. With three players out of the lineup with chicken pox, it didn't look good for the Minden team. The Monarchs had lost to Haliburton during regular season play with a full team.

In spite of the odds, the Monarchs came up with a winning combination, namely a determined, hard working team, backstopped by a hot goaltender by the name of Kody Smith.

The final score of 5-1 earned Minden the C division championship.

The week before, the Monarchs were finalists in the B division of a tournament in Haliburton.

Inaugural season surpasses organizers' dreams

by Jerry Grozelle

With their first successful season under their belts, players from the six teams, coaches, team officials, and supporters of the Kinmount Knights Hockey Club gathered at the Galway Community Centre for a year-end banquet. Players and coaches were presented with Kinmount Knights T-shirts.

More than 60 youngsters aged four to 12 participated in the inaugural season of hockey.

The club was the idea of Dave Lougheed and with the support of his wife Holly, Danny and Janice Davidson and several other Kinmount area individuals, businesses and organizations, the dream of a recreational hockey club for area kids became a reality.

Lougheed says it was a co-operative community effort and the list of contributors to the success of the project confirms that assessment.

Thanks to the determination of a small group of Kinmount people, sponsors, donations of materials and labour to spruce up the arena, and funding for equipment were provided in support of the project.

"It turned out better than we ever dreamed," Holly Lougheed said. "We had lots of support."

Six teams were formed; two in each of three age groups. Each division had a Red and a Blue team. The four, five and six age group Red team was coached by Bill Day and Dave Lougheed. John Windrum and Keith McPherson coached the Blue team of the same division. The Red seven, eight and nine year-old team was coached by John Parker and Wayne Bonner. Jim Hughes coached the Blue team.

The Red 10, 11 and 12 year-olds were coached by Dan Davidson and Rick Hartwick. Greg Sutherland and Tommy Day were the coaches of the Blue 10, 11 and 12s.

Sponsors included Taylor's Service Station, Scott's IGA, Rokeby Lumber, the Kinmount Lions Club, Crystal Construction, Kinvale Restaurant, Minden Valu-Mart and Ken's Welding.

Donors of supplies or cash were Austin Lumber, Kinmount Senior Citizens' Club, Dettman's Variety and the Kinmount Lions Club (donated ice time) and the Kinmount Legion, (provided the funds to buy enough used goalie equipment to outfit the club).

Strictly for fun is the philosophy of the club. No win-loss records were kept and no trophies were presented at the end of the season. Dave Lougheed said the players seemed to like it that way.

Each of the boys and girls who played was presented with a T-shirt emblazoned with the Kinmount Knights crest. Even the use of the hall for the year-end celebrations was donated by the municipality.

Other examples of the type of dedication to the success of the inaugural season included Joe McNamara, who made six hockey bags in which to keep each team's goalie equipment in; Bill McGillivray, who made the sign "Home of the Kinmount Knights", which will be on display at the arena, Kevin Robillard, John Windrum and Vic Mallik provided materials, expertise and/or labour, Mike "the Ice Man" Grozelle made sure the ice was prepared for games, Minden arena manager Brian Sisson helped with repairs to the clock and loaned spare nets while the Kinmount nets were being repaired, and Bruce Fleury was able to supply the mesh for the nets; the same mesh that is used at Maple Leaf Gardens.

Even Lindsay Minor Hockey helped out by donating a goalie catcher and blocker.

Referees Richard Barry and Rob

McConnell donated their time and talents.

Holly Lougheed said that the fact that there were just four people working on the organization of the inaugural season may have been an advantage.

"I think that's why it worked so well," she said. "There were no major corporate decisions."

She added that all it took, in most cases, to accomplish a goal, was to make a couple of phone calls.

"We had lots of support," Lougheed said. "The community spirit was great."

Response to the inaugural season was so good that organizers are planning to add a division for 13, 14 and 15 year-olds. There is also a possibility that they may get the season started earlier this year with some ball hockey.

PLAN ON BURNING THIS SPRING?

Every year careless residents create wildfires in our communities. These fires threaten lives and properties and are a burdening expense to the taxpayer. The months of April and May are the most dangerous times. Dead grass and leaves accompanied by gusting winds allow a fire to spread very quickly resulting in a wildfire.

BEFORE YOU BURN YOUR GRASS, BRUSH OR DEBRIS, REMEMBER THESE IMPORTANT POINTS:

1. You must obtain a fire permit;
2. Ensure that a responsible person tends the fire;
3. Keep the fire under control;
4. Upon completion, put your fire dead out. Even if it appears to be out, stir it, and drown it with water again and again, until you're sure it is out;
5. No burning allowed between 10:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. (with the exception of Industrial Permits)
6. For further information, please contact your local Municipal Office, Fire Warden or the Haliburton Fire Operations Headquarters at (705) 457-2107.

Enrolment in Minden Minor Baseball declines for 1995 season

Fewer girls have signed up to play this year

Enrolment in the Minden Minor Baseball League is down by about 25 per cent from last year. As of the latest registration, about 300 youngsters have signed up, down from 400 last year.

Association president Grant Shaw says there are still a few registrations coming in, and he will be accepting players until near the end of April. But, he encourages anyone who is planning to play this season to register as soon as possible.

Teams have already been formed and there is room in some divisions for more players. There are teams which are at capacity and any increases will mean reorganization to accommodate the late registrants. Some may have to be turned away.

The bantam division (14- to 16-year-olds) has two teams, with nine players per team.

Four teams will compete in the peewee division (12 and 13 age group). The average is 11 players per team.

Junior and senior T-ball divisions have four teams each, averaging 11 players per team. The juniors are from four to five and a half years old and the seniors are five and a half to six.

The five-pitch teams are the next step up from T-ball. Two teams are set up in that division, which is for seven year-olds. Those teams have 13 and 14 players.

The squirt division is one of two that has six teams, with 10 to 11 players on each team. The squirts are in the 10 and 11 age group.

The other division with six teams is atom. They are eight and nine years of age and the teams have an average of nine players each.

Shaw says that there are fewer girls registered this year than last. He can't explain why. He says that the girls who play seem to have as much fun as the boys in this non-competitive league.

"It is a fun league," Shaw said. "There should be more girls."

Shaw says the league seems to be all set for coaches, but there is always room for more umpires.

Anyone interested in helping out should contact Grant Shaw at 286-4240.

Senior curlers close season with series of 'spiels

by Dave McAdam

The Minden Seniors Curling Club has wound down its 1994-95 curling with three end-of-season bonspiels.

The first of these was the Men's League, where the top eight teams from the regular season squared off against one another with draws of eight ends each, one in the morning and one in the afternoon of Monday, March 20.

The curlers were fuelled with lots of breakfast, hot coffee, Danish pastries and a liberal dose of high spirits prior to taking to the ice. The day proved to be great fun and the lunch break gave the teams an opportunity to re-hash the shots, the ice and the do's and don'ts before the afternoon draw.

Winning the spiel were: First place, skip Dave McAdam, vice Russ Fair, second Bill Blyth and lead Jim Schultz. Second place: Skip Gil Scott, vice Stan Hill, second Charlie Hadley and lead Todd Grainger. Third place: Skip George Hewitt, vice Ross Codlin, second John Warren and lead Jack Sykes.

On Friday, March 24, the Seniors Mixed League fielded the 16 top teams for two separate draws, each consisting of two six-end games. The spiel was well organized by our Mixed League convener Bob Bullen.

Where possible, the teams were made up of the same curlers as played on them in the regular season.

Meat and poultry prizes were awarded to the winning teams, including the team that won the corner to corner cross-ice stone throw. The winning teams were: First draw; first place -- skip Dave McAdam, vice Marion Thomas, second Jack Robson and lead Muriel Green. Second place -- skip Lloyd Boskett, vice Cliff Scott, second Clara Warren and lead Herb Taylor. Third place -- Skip John Warren, vice Gladys Marquardt, second Hazel Maxwell and lead Ruby Wilkes.

Second draw; first place -- skip Russ Fair, vice Billie Shuyler, second Ralph Newton and lead Gail Flook. Second place -- skip Gil Scott, vice Keith Fountain, second Nancy Moore and lead Rene Codlin. Third place -- skip Doreen Bullied, vice Morris Duff, second Gail Grainger and lead Roy MacDonald.

Corner to corner winners were the team of skip Tom Hurtt, vice Joan Davies, second Shirley Brandon and lead Earl McMillan. They were happy recipients of a plump chicken each as a result of their vice Joan Davies having dutifully and accurately delivered a 40-pound pebble from northwest Hackston to southwest Buttonville.

And lastly, on March 29, the Ladies League of the MSCC issued a challenge to the Men's League for a spiel on the wrap up of the 1994-95 season. Ladies League convener Gord Arthur, put together a great fun day and some very competitive teams.

The spiel consisted of two draws of six ends each. Three ends were played in the morning and another three in the afternoon. At lunch, the teams enjoyed some tasty pizzas, coffee and some Tom Hurtt birthday cake.

When the curling was finished, and the scoreboard was tallied, it showed the following winners: First place -- skip Frank Codlin, vice Ken Walsh, second Cliff Scott and lead Keith Fountain. Second place -- skip Bill Milford, vice Erskine Flook, second Hugh Hamilton and lead Charlie Hadley. Third place -- skip Norm Gilmore, (more on page 20)

OPP asking for helpGull Lake break-ins

Minden OPP are asking for the public's assistance regarding the theft of property from cottages on Gull Lake.

On March 22, at 4:45 p.m. Kim Colby arrived at his father's cottage on Gull Lake Road #3, south of Miner's Bay. He found the door open, and when he entered, he heard someone run out the other door.

Colby was unable to identify the culprits who drove off in a green mini-van, which had been parked at the cottage next door.

The culprits stole water skis, a wet suit, a television and some tools from the Colby cottage as well as some speakers from John McNamee's cottage next door.

Police were unable to locate the van.

Several cottages have been broken into lately in Lutterworth Township and police believe the thieves in the green mini-van may be responsible.

Anyone with information on this, or any other break-ins, is asked to contact the OPP. The telephone number for the Minden OPP detachment is 286-1431.

Weekly report

Minden OPP officers investigated 15 break and enters from March 20 to 26. In addition, two thefts, six property damage motor vehicle collisions and two wilful damage complaints.

Two of the motor vehicle accidents involved collisions with deer. Police advise motorists to be especially watchful while driving at night. Deer are moving out of their winter yards and crossing roads in the process.

Seniors finish season

vice Ross Davies, second Harry Troup and lead John Thomas.

It should be noted that skip Mimi Carson's team of Jean Hewitt, Jean Hadley and Ruby Henderson tied the third place team of Norm Gilmore and although Norm's team came out the winner in the tie-breaker curl to the button, even this was close. Norm and his team, as true sportsmen, deferred to Mimi's team for the third place win.

Some interesting prizes, such as some cute wind-driven cartoon characters for garden ornaments, some bird feeders and some club crests went to the winners.

Although the day was greatly enjoyed by all, it was sad to again hang up our curling shoes and brooms until next season.

Three events remain on the club calendar for this season. The first is the Awards Banquet on May 13 at 6 p.m. at the Minden Community Centre. The second event is the club's General Meeting at the Curling Club on May 25 at 2:30 p.m. and finally, the Spring Golf Tournament on June 6 at Beaverbrook Golf Course.

We'll be seeing you at these events.

Something borrowed something blue... ..something old & something new Everything for the bride and the perfect wedding was on display March 26 at the first annual Spring '95 Bridal and Fashion Show. Organized by Sylvia Holland in conjunction with area merchants, the show featured products and services catering to weddings.

Those in attendance had an opportunity to talk with merchants displaying their wares and enjoy a luncheon and fashion show held at Wigamog Inn. The show included ideas for today's bride and groom and a peek at some gowns that were worn in the past.

Holland was very pleased with the response to the show by both the participants and the general public and is already planning one for next year.

Moon for the Misbegotten opens

The Highlands Little Theatre's Production of Eugene O'Neill's classic A Moon for the Misbegotten opened March 31 and April 1.

Director Irene Lubowitz describes Moon as a difficult work, which portrays complicated, often dysfunctional relationships between complicated and, well, dysfunctional people.

Anita Kuno gives a solid, believable performance as lead Josie Hogan, the embittered daughter of a combative, hard drinking Irish-American farmer (played with gusto by Tom Robinson). The cast in general is quite competent with the demanding material.

The material, for that matter, is first rate. Moon is a convincing, compelling play about real people, and well worth the price.

Moon will play two more nights — April 7 and April 8. Curtain is at 8:00 pm at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. Admission is $7 in advance, $8 at the door. Seniors and students pay $5 in advance, $6 at the door. Tickets are available at The Storeroom in Minden and at Paulette's in Haliburton. This work is suitable for a mature audience.

Misfits Josie Hogan (Anita Kuno) and Jim Tyrone (Shawn Hagerman) get to know each other by moonlight.

Orange Lodge hosts tea party

Senior League

by Donna Wallace

Monday some of the residents gathered for a discussion about hindsight. It was interesting to hear some of their responses. Wouldn't it be great to have 20/20 vision and use our hindsight to our advantage?

Tuesday morning chapel service was conducted by Rev. Peter Walford-Davis. He delivered the United Church Communion. Thank you Reverend.

In the afternoon the folks were busy getting Easter decorations finished. Doris and Janice assisted with the Easter baskets. Tuesday evening Pearl helped several residents with cards. Thanks Pearl for your faithfulness.

Wednesday and Thursday morning the auditorium was bustling with all kinds of exercises under the guidance of Doris.

Wednesday noon was a pot luck luncheon. Family and friends brought in delicious dishes. The kitchen supplied beverages and desserts. About 85 people sat down for lunch. Jock Mavor sang and played his omnichord. Eight more residents were inducted into the Hyland Hall of Fame; three of those posthumously.

Reverend John Burgess gave the blessing and Donna Black volunteered, along with Doris and Janice. It was a very nice time for residents, families and friends.

Thursday afternoon the Minden Orange Lodge hosted the tea party. Only a handful of the ladies are left. Thanks for a job well done, ladies.

Friday afternoon Bill Payne and Eldon Deacon entertained at happy hour. A few folks got up to dance. They enjoyed their snacks and beverages. Don and Ellen Holden tended bar. Thanks to everyone who helped in any way.

Saturday afternoon Jock Mavor entertained the folks once again.

Sunday Estella Burch continued reading to the residents. In the evening Rev. John Burgess conducted the chapel service.

We welcome back Dick Thompson. He will be assistant volunteer co-ordinator, helping Doris with some of her duties. His wife Sylvia will be volunteering as well.

I hope spring is here to stay! I have crocuses blooming already.

Tax deadline looms

The income tax season is quickly drawing to a close. The deadline for mailing returns is April 30. For seniors receiving supplements or those with low income, the last day to bring your return in for preparation by the Volunteer Tax Program at the Haliburton County Information Centre is April 7.

The 1995 edition of the Haliburton County Information Directory is ready for distribution and available at the centre.

The centre provides a volunteer registry for the County of Haliburton. We can match your expertise and talents to an agency in the county for a mutually rewarding and gratifying experience. In this age of fiscal restraints, volunteers are one of our most valuable resources and are desperately needed in every capacity. Let us assist you in exploring your role in the volunteer community.

You can access services provided to the community by the Haliburton County Information centre Inc. in Haliburton on Maple Avenue, (705) 457-2733, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday to Friday. The Minden centre is located on Milne Street, in the lower level of the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal office, (705) 286-4100, every Tuesday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Both offices are closed from noon to 1 p.m. for lunch.

If you're finding your drug expenses too much to handle. Here's help

The need for prescription drugs shouldn't make anyone have to choose between health and financial hardship. Starting on April 1, people with unmanageable drug expenses can get help through the new Trillium Drug Program.

What are you doing for Earth Day?

Mother's Day and Father's Day have always struck me as oddly superfluous. When my parents were still alive, they were an essential part of my family's life and we saw them several times a week.

Even now, hardly a day passes when I don't think of them several times because in a way, every day was Mother and Father's Day for me. I feel the same about the Earth.

But now that most of us live in cities, our dependence on and need for nature are not immediately obvious. As daily urban life speeds up and becomes more fragmented, our basic biological needs are even harder to recognize.

So it is necessary to deliberately pause and appreciate the water, weather, energy, seasons, soil, trees-- all parts of the biosphere that sustain and enrich our lives.

April 22 is one of those days set aside to remind ourselves of our continued dependence on "Mother Earth." This year is the 25th anniversary of the first Earth Day celebration which grew to involve over 200 million people by 1990. Although economic issues preoccupy the media, the ecological crisis has not gone away.

The world has changed dramatically since the end of the Second World War and the birth of the United Nations 50 years ago. It is time to heed the warnings of the leading scientists of the world: "Human beings and the natural world are on a collision course. No more than a few decades remain before the chance to avert the threats we now confront will be lost and the prospects for humanity immeasurably diminished...A great change in our stewardship of the Earth and the life on it is required, if vast human misery is to be avoided and our global home on this planet is not to be irretrievably mutilated." That statement was signed by over half of all living Nobel prize-winners and cannot be lightly dismissed.

But the statistics of global change numb the mind: population increasing by 90 million a year; 25 billion tons of agricultural topsoil lost a year; a hectare of tropical rainforest disappearing every second; more than 50,000 species going extinct annually; 45,000 people dying of starvation daily. The scale of the crisis is beyond individual experience or comprehension, and tends to induce helplessness and inertia. Thomas Berry says only by thinking and acting locally do we have any hope of being effective globally.

It is widely believed that the key to living in balance with nature is a sense of connection and commitment to a place. A fundamental tenet of the David Suzuki Foundation (DSF) is that a vigorous local community must be the unit of stability around which a sustainable future is built. To that end, people are encouraged to "work locally...hire locally...buy locally...eat seasonally and locally."

In fact, most environmental groups spring up to resolve issues of concern to local communities. Tom Sandborn, a writer and social activist, suggested the DSF acknowledge its commitment to neighbourhoods by organizing an Earth Day celebration in the immediate area around the office. He first approached merchants who share the block-long building with the DSF, then crossed to the other side of the street. The response was immediate and enthusiastic with every business around us participating.

First we approached Capers, the organic food store that has become a central part of the Kitsilano community in Vancouver. Russell Precious, its founder, offered his profits on Earth Day to the event and his restaurant to hold a dinner. He then personally recruited other merchants to participate. Stores will feature displays of eco-products, posters, locally made wares and locally grown foods, as well as contributing money to the event.

The response of local artists and musicians in the neighbourhood has been equally enthusiastic. Many art pieces have been donated for sale on Earth Day while performers will provide entertainment throughout the day. Sound systems, paper, food and security have all been contributed and a local tent and awning firm donated a large piece of canvas with which Mooberly Elementary School Students are creating an Earth day banner.

The public is invited to join in our celebration of the 2200 block of West Fourth Avenue and we are suggesting that they leave their cars at home and walk, bike or take a bus and have asked that all public transit be free on Earth day.

One of the most remarkable lessons of environmentalism is to value diversity--biological and social. Variety and difference allow life and societies to adapt and survive. And diversity provides us with the delight of joy and surprise. In celebrating the wonderful nuances of local people and ecosystems on Earth Day, we are reminded to be grateful for and solicitous of the mother of us all.

Acid rain report

The following report on acid precipitation was recorded at the Ministry of Environment and Energy site near Dorset.

This report covers the period March 5 to 21:

March 5: 11.0 cm of snow with a pH of 4.3
 March 6: 1.5 mm of mixed snow and rain with a pH of 3.9
 March 7: 37.6 mm of mixed snow and rain with a pH of 4.3
 March 19: 2.6 mm of rain with a pH of 4.1
 March 20: 2.4 mm of rain with a pH of 3.8
 March 21: 1.2 mm of mixed snow and rain with a pH of 4.5

Environmental damage to lakes and streams is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH readings of less than 4.7. pH readings less than 4.0 are considered serious.

South Lake chefs honoured by Cottage Life magazine

The SLACAR Gourmets have done it again!

Ken Brown, Kevin DeGrace and Bob Martin, all cottagers on South Lake have captured third place in the barbecue division of the Cottage Life recipe competition. The winning entries appeared in the spring edition of Cottage Life magazine which went on sale last week. They won for their bruschetta done on the barbecue.

Times readers were of course, well aware of the culinary exploits of these three cordon bleu cottagers. Ken is the author of a column which appears as the end-piece of our seasonal publication, SummerTimes. Ken described in the June 27 edition how the three whipped up a feast for their wives. While the lavish banquet Brown described to our readers did not include any mention of the award winning Bruschetta, perhaps he can be persuaded to share it with us this summer.

In any event, hats off to the SLACAR Gourmets Ken, Kevin and Bob. You'll recognize them this summer by their mile wide grins.

A 65th birthday surprise party was held at Rudy's for Holly Harrison on Monday March 20. Seventeen friends and family gathered to congratulate him. A second surprise for Holly, a pot luck party, was held at Club 35 Saturday March 25, hosted by Keith and Lesley Harrison of Scarborough. A delicious and plentiful meal was the order of the evening, along with gag gifts which provided good laughs.

All good wishes to Betty Dionne who is quite ill at home and taking treatments at Peterborough and now has a broken arm.

The Black Tower 5 pin bowling, with afternoon teams competing, took place March 26 at Carnarvon Lanes. Winning team was "the late-comers" being Josie Cheeseman, Dorothy Winger, Helen Detinger, Betty Matthews, Verne Bowles and Peggy Kelly with 211. High single flat went to Ken Thompson with a score of 255 and hidden score was that of Elli Langpohl. This was an enjoyable time with the Wednesday and Thursday afternoon teams.

Audrey and Bob Vick drove down to visit with Chic and Marian Minaker at Stouffville last weekend. Bob and Chic took in the horse sales at Markham on Saturday and then on Sunday there was a family birthday party for Audrey at the home of Cathy, Dale and Tyler Vick at Vandorf.

"TURN YOUR CRANK"

We did. The revolutionary NEW FOREMAN 400 features a unique engine, the crank is sideways. Well, actually it's placed lengthwise in the frame, but we refer to it as sideways.

SIDEWAYS FOR:

- A more direct efficient transfer of power
- No 90° bevelled gears to put 15% more power to your wheels
- New low RPM lock up clutch
- New more aggressive tires
- All new gas shocks for a smoother ride
- New front suspension for lighter feel to the steering
- Bigger, more powerful yet agile and lighter in weight than comparable models.

IN MEMORIAM

FRANCIS: In loving memory of Carl S. Francis, dear husband, father and grandpa, who passed away April 3, 1992.

This month comes back with sad regret,

It brings back a day we shall never forget,

We didn't know that morning, What sorrow the day would bring.

A bitter shock and grief severe, To part with one who was so dear.

We miss you more than anyone knows,

As each day passes, emptiness grows.

You left us courage to go on alone,

And left us memories we are proud to own.

Sadly missed by Ruby and all our family.

IN MEMORIAM

DIONNE, YVETTE: In loving memory of a dear mother who passed away March 24, 1994.

There is a bridge of golden memories,

That goes from here to heaven above,

It keeps us very close to you, It's called a bridge of love.

No one knows the heartache, Of what your parting cost,

But God in all His glory, Has gained what we have lost.

Loving and remembered always, Nelson and Betty Dionne

HARRISON: In loving memory of Wayne Harrison who left us April 2, 1992.

You have been away, For three years, friend,

But our thoughts of you, Will never end.

We miss you.
